

The unwrapped gift

Welcoming smells in the houses
Reveal some tasty dish
Christmas trees with candles and ornaments
Shine and sparkle all over

The little and the big ones: everyone is there
A christmas mood
Pervades the decorated houses
Empty streets frame the festivity of the night

But amidst all cheerfulness
Loneliness arises
Harmony is easily shaken
And a collapse in dispute often not far

In many places the precious gift remains unwrapped though
Jesus story holds good news at hand
It is about healing and salvation
In this turbulent and often unjustly world

This gift is waiting for you
For everyone
Please do unwrap it
And find it out!

Silja Nemetschek